

Collection Systems Committee Awards

The Collection Systems Committee and FWEA is currently accepting nominations for these awards.

Do not miss this great opportunity! Submit your nomination now.

Wastewater Collection System of the Year Award

The Committee wants to recognize your exceptional effort to properly manage, operate and maintain your wastewater collection system. Your peers would like to know how you solved those difficult problems—all you need to do is describe what worked for you. Nominations are now being accepted for the Wastewater Collection System of the Year Award. This is an award to recognize the important role that collection systems play within communities.

Please submit nominations to

Pretreatment Awards

The Committee has two awards to recognize individuals for their contributions associated with their management of Industrial Pretreatment Programs, as well as individuals who have displayed exceptional efforts associated with their direct operation and maintenance of industrial wastewater treatment facilities/pollution control programs.

Albert B. Herndon Award

This award is presented to an individual who has excelled in the field of industrial pretreatment. The nominee shall be directly involved in the operation or regulation of pretreatment programs, has shown outstanding initiative to promote good public relations and the advancement of industrial pretreatment and has displayed exemplary commitment to their job.

L.L. Hedgepeth Award

This award is presented to an outstanding industrial wastewater operator directly responsible for an industrial wastewater treatment system or industrial wastewater management program. The nominees for this award will have contributed to the complexity or success of the treatment or pollution control system, provided outreach to civic or professional organizations regarding these responsibilities, and displayed exemplary commitment to their job.

Please submit nominations to
